2. This initiative aims to strengthen science teachers' competencies in integrating robotics, programming, and Artificial Intelligence (AI) into STEM instruction, in accordance with the revised K to 12 STEM framework. The training will offer hands-on experience with robotics kits, microcontrollers, and programming platforms while exploring AI applications in education. Additionally, it will focus on utilizing AI-driven tools to enhance student engagement and improve learning outcomes, thereby aligning with the framework's emphasis on developing critical thinking, creativity, and technological literacy in students.
3. In line with this, the Robotics Kits to be utilized during the training will be provided to the schools of the participants as part of the Regional Office's ongoing support for the schools' Robotics Programs. The participants in this training will include STE teachers who are currently responsible for STEM-related subjects or are actively involved in robotics and ICT programs, with a commitment to continue engaging in Robotics for the next three (3) years. Science supervisors are requested to submit the list of participants to chozara.duroy@deped.gov.ph on or before April 30, 2025.
