

GRADUATION MESSAGE

Theme: "Generation of Unity: Partners for the New Philippines"

It is with deepest sincerity and pride that I congratulate you on the occasion of your Graduation. As the celebration goes, it is the conclusion of your academic tasks and at the same time the commencement of the more complicated challenges that lie ahead. Being one that shared your strife and who has seen how you fought your little battles, truly proud I am of your accomplishments.

As the theme exhorts, be the generation that will end the conflicts that we now see in our midst. We stand on the threshold of deciding whether the world ahead of us will fail or will it be a work in fruition. My dear graduates, know your roots and the principles that your ancestors have laid down for you to stand on. Use history as the foundation of whatever worthwhile decision you will take as you trek the higher steps in the hierarchy of life. Make sure that you are confident yet grounded. Be on guard for what your actions may cause on others. And as always, look up to the Almighty for guidance. Only by these principles can you be called partners for a better generation ahead.

One day in the future, when we, your mentors would have parked our pens and contemplate on the fruits of our labor, we would like to rest on the thought that our Philippines is in the best hands. The very hands that we now train to become good leaders. With brilliant minds and compassionate hearts.
